Summary

With 14+ years of experience, I serve as a Senior Technology Product Manager at Wolters Kluwer, leading product strategy in AI-powered Data Intelligence and analytics solutions that help organizations unlock insights and make smarter, data-driven decisions. Passionate about architecting AI-enhanced products that simplify the user experience and empower global organizations to make smarter, faster decisions.

My work centers on creating datadriven products grounded in strong analytical foundations and thoughtful product strategy. Expert in leveraging Machine Learning and Predictive Analytics to transform corporate decision-making and automate complex workflows. I excel at unifying vision, execution, and collaboration—partnering with engineering, design, and business stakeholders to deliver solutions that scale and deliver measurable value.
